

Hey [Romantic Client], I hope you're doing well!

I've really enjoyed getting to know you and spending time together. I hope this doesn't come off the wrong way, but as military personnel, there are certain things I need that can be a bit specific, and I thought a gift card could help with that.

If you do feel like giving, a gift card would be greatly appreciated. However, please know there's absolutely no obligation or pressure. I value our connection above all and look forward to more great times together